Anthony PARIS

Assistant Professor
University of Orléans
anthony.paris@univ-orleans.fr

Orléans, 19th of February 2026,

Re: Recommendation letter for Ms. Tuyet-Han LE

Madam, Sir,

Ms. Tuyet-Han LE is a student in the International Economics and Sustainable Development Master's program since September. As a lecturer at the University of Orléans and co-head of this Master's program, I had the opportunity to teach her in two courses covering econometrics and financial management, as well as to closely observe her academic progress and professional attitude throughout the semester.

This assiduous student showed an excellent ability of comprehension and restitution of the economic and financial concepts as well as the various techniques in statistics and econometrics. Moreover, Ms. Tuyet-Han LE knew perfectly how to apply these concepts during the various applications and project. She showed sagacity, curiosity and interest during our classes.

Thanks to these qualities, Ms. Tuyet-Han LE achieved an outstanding average grade of 15.389/20, ranking first among 15 students in her cohort during the first semester. She will be without doubt the best student of this academic year, and her performance places her among the best students we have trained since the creation of the Master's program in 2018. Such a level of excellence is rare and deserves special recognition.

Her academic interests and competencies are particularly strong in macroeconomics, international economics, environmental economics, and applied data analysis. She combines strong quantitative skills with a clear understanding of economic intuition, which allows her to produce high-quality analyses and well-structured arguments.

In addition to her academic excellence, Ms. Tuyet-Han LE displays exemplary behavior, characterized by seriousness, perseverance, autonomy, and a strong work ethic. She is a thoughtful and reliable student who fully meets the expectations of demanding academic and professional environments.

For all these reasons, I recommend Ms. Tuyet-Han LE without reservation. I am fully confident that her analytical abilities, methodological rigor, and adaptability will allow her to successfully meet the requirements of the internship to which she applies and to make a valuable contribution to any institution or organization that welcomes her.

Best regards,

Anthony PARIS

UNIVERSITÉ D'ORLÉANS
FACULTÉ DE DROIT D'ÉCONOMIE ET DE GESTION